25th Anniversary Celebration: Join us for 10%,15% or 20% off your entire purchase Sept 18-22. (Applies to regular priced items only). Just draw a treat off the tree to see what your discount will be. This year's party favor is a zipper pouch to keep your stitching supplies all together.

Block of the Month: I am starting to get the fabric in for this design from Wing and a Prayer called Tonga Nature. It is done in batik fabrics in green and gold for the border with beige backgrounds and accent colors. It should be a cheery, beautiful piece when finished. Cost is $19.50 for 12 months. Call or email to reserve your kit.

Harvest Hop: Fabric lovers this one is for you. It starts October 3rd through the 6th. Get your passport from one of the 6 shops at your first stop, visit all the shops for a stamp (with purchase) and turn it in at the last shop for a free six yard fabric bundle. New this year, at every shop that you spend $20.00 or more, you will get a $5.00 coupon to use at that shop during the month of November. So you win twice – during the hop with a bundle of fabric and the next month with $5.00 to spend! Participating shops include Fiberworks Needlework Shop, Waverly; Prairie Rose Fabrics, Clarksville; Dralle's, Greene; Jen's Needlework, Aplington; Crazy to Quilt and Luli June's in Cedar Falls.

Upcoming event: Christmas Open House will be Saturday, November 17th from 9-4. Stop in for in-store specials and maybe something chocolate! Shop Waverly first for the holidays. Many of the stores in town will have specials this weekend.

TECHNIQUE TIP:

I happen to pull out one of my reference books to look at a Bargello vest that is on my bucket list -Anna Pearson's Needlepoint Stitch By Stitch. She calls her book a complete course in needlepoint with lovely projects for every level. Included are instruction and projects in tent stitch, Florentine stitch, cross stitch, pulled thread and stitchery. There is also a chapter on history. Here is an excerpt from 1800th century US: In the early days of the American colonies the women, especially in rural areas, had to produce the fabric and yarn before they could even sew; they had to rear sheep for wool or grow flax for linen thread and then spin it. Little wonder that worn clothes were constantly repaired or remodeled, then cut down into smaller garments, using all the bits that were still all right, and finally they were cut into patches for bed quilts. Even in towns cotton was very expensive as it was not until the mid-nineteenth century that is was successfully grown in the US. Girls were prepared for marriage by attending local classes in a woman's home where they would learn needlework and knitting, and possibly reading and a little arithmetic. After 1750 some sewing schools began to offer dancing, drawing and sometimes English and French. Samplers of increasing complexity were the normal project for young ladies were long and narrow and worked on linen. The period of the finest American needlework was from 1700-1780, worked by women of the prosperous classes who enjoyed canvas work, crewel, lace and silk embroidery, embellishment for clothing and pocket books or purses were very popular and chairs and upholstered pieces appealed to the even more ambitious. A wife could help convey the level of her family's prosperity and social standing and add immeasurably to the comfort and style of the household with her needlework....for more refer to Anna's book.
